Introduction:

Tom loves his farm. Find out all about it in this book. It is a long book, but you can read it! You can read lots of things now. Keep practising!

Here is Tom on his farm. Tom likes living on a farm.

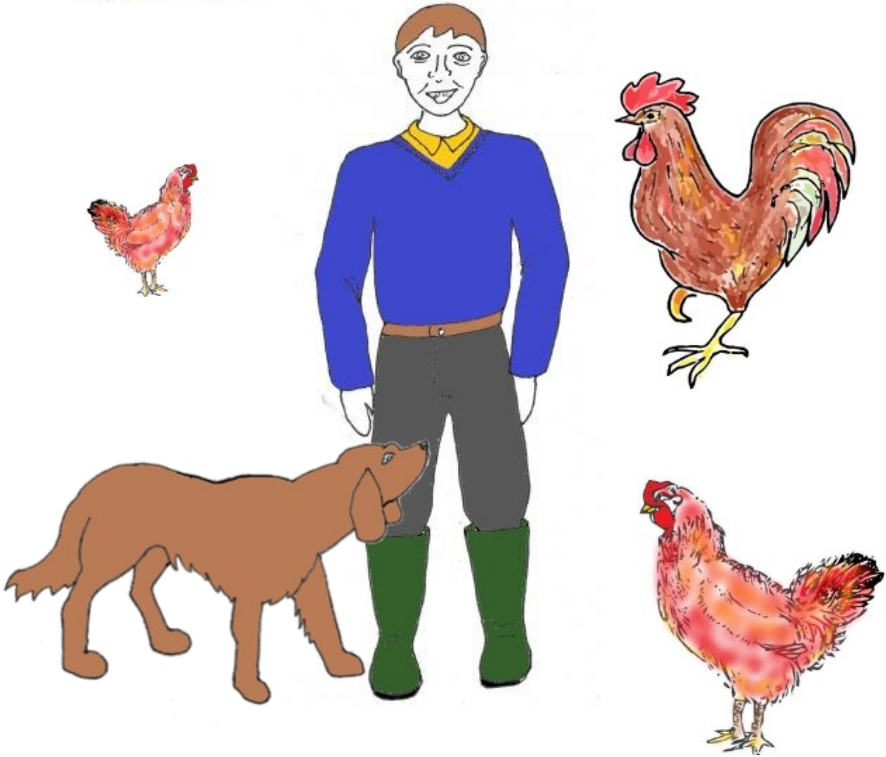

In the morning the cock wakes him up.

“Cock-a-doodle doo!” he says, Tom gets up and he feeds the chickens. Then he feeds the horse.

Pam and Sam help Tom on the farm. Pam gets the eggs. She has to go and look for them.

Sometimes the hens hide them.

She puts them in a bucket.

Sam sweeps the yard.

Brush, brush, brush.

Then he feeds the pigs.

He runs up to the pond to feed the ducks. He likes to feed the ducks. He has the food in a red bucket.

The ducks peck the food from the bucket. “Quack, quack, quack.”

Tom needs some logs for the fire.

He will take the tractor to the woods and look for some.

Chug, chug, chug goes the tractor up the hill.

He chops the logs and puts them on the back of the tractor. Then he chugs back to the farm.

It is spring. One sheep has had some lambs. They are in the barn.
Tom will go and see the sheep.
Tom picks up a lamb. He feeds it.
Pam comes to help. She feeds a lamb too.

The hens have had chicks. Tom's wife feeds the chicks. They are so soft.

“Cheep, cheep, cheep,” says a chick.

“Cluck, cluck, cluck “ says the chicken.

They run to peck the food.

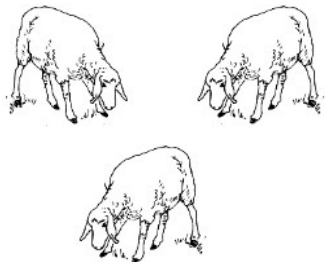

Jiff likes to help on the farm too.
He likes to think he is a sheep dog.

Tom says, “Come and help me
with the sheep, Jiff.”

Jiff runs to help. He likes to run and run.

Tom puts the sheep in a pen. He checks them to see if they are well.

It is bed time. Tom looks at the moon and the stars. Sam and Pam are in bed, sleeping. He and June must get into bed too.

He thinks of his lambs. They are safe in the barn. The horse is in bed, too. The hens are safe in the hen coop.

Tom must sleep soon or it will be time for the cock to wake him up!

Tom gets into bed.
